What is the global solar power tracker?

The Global Solar Power Tracker is a worldwide dataset of utility-scale solar photovoltaic (PV) and solar thermal facilities. It covers all operating solar farm phases with capacities of 1 megawatt (MW) or more and all announced, pre-construction, construction, and shelved projects with capacities greater than 20 MW.

How do I find a Wiki-Solar site plan?

Select a country or region from the pull-down menus above. See China, for example, by pressing this large button > Click on any place-marker and it will display the name and what details of the project are held on the Wiki-Solar Database as described on the right. There will also be a hyperlink to the site plan (if available) as below:.

What if the marker does not correspond to my solar production address?

Provide the following information If the marker does not correspond to your solar production address, use an area approach, using the + and - on the map to geographically define your GPS point. O (Opacity) modifies the opacity of the map and the visualization of solar irradiance through a color gradient defined in L (Legend).

How does gem track solar projects?

Every solar park is linked to a wiki page on the GEM wiki platform. The tracking tool provides search results by project name, start-up year, operator, owner, country, capacity, and project status. Currently, it includes 5,190 solar projects with a combined capacity of 298.7 GW across 148 countries.
