Overview

The annual cost of solar panel home insurance ranges from £118 to £152, which seems reasonable compared to the potential risks. Once you decide to install solar panels, inform your home insurer. How much does solar panel home insurance cost?

The annual cost of solar panel home insurance ranges from £118 to £152, which seems reasonable compared to the potential risks. Once you decide to install solar panels, inform your home insurer. Solar panels contribute to rebuilding your home's value, so it's important to list them in the insurance coverage.

Will solar panels affect my home insurance?

When you decide to install solar panels, it's imperative to inform your home insurer about the change. Solar panels can affect the rebuild value of your home, which is a critical factor in your insurance coverage. Your insurer can then advise you on any changes to the cost of your policy as a result of the installation.

Do I need insurance if I install solar panels?

Yes, you should always let your insurance provider know about any significant changes you make to your home – including fitting solar panels – to ensure you're sufficiently covered. As well as improving your home's market value, installing solar panels is likely to increase your home's rebuild value.

Should I tell my home insurance provider if I have solar panels?

At Sunsave, we strongly recommend that you tell your home insurance provider once you have solar panels, just like you would after any other significant modification to your property. It may increase how much you pay for insurance, as solar panels can raise the value of your home.

Are solar panels covered by home insurance?

Whenever you're making significant changes to your home, it's always a good idea to contact your home insurance provider to let them know. If you've added solar panels, or are thinking of doing so, give your provider a call. The good news is that a lot of the time they are covered as standard by home insurance policies.

What is solar panel insurance?

Solar panel insurance is a policy that protects your solar panel system from a range of occurrences, which can help you keep solar panel costs to a minimum. You'll usually be covered for everything from natural disasters to theft, though probably not for accidental damage – so keep your roof gymnastics to a minimum.
