What is a solar tracker?

Ground mounted solar installations can use solar trackers to tilt the angle of solar panels throughout the day, maximising generation. They are typically used in large scale commercial or utility projects - not residential - as they come with added setup and maintenance costs, due to the additional moving equipment.

How do solar panel mounting and tracking systems work?

Solar panel mounting and tracking systems come in a variety of different options and work to make your solar panel array as effective and efficient as possible. Ideally, in order to ensure your panels are receiving as much sunlight as possible, sunlight must be perpendicular to your panels.

Does a solar tracker work with rigid solar panels?

With an expandable frame, the tracker works seamlessly with most rigid solar panels on the market, ensuring high-efficiency power generation. The tracker is compatible with rigid solar panels in a dimensional range of 1000–2500 mm (39.4–98.4 in) in length, 600–1200 mm (23.6–47.2 in) in width, and 30–40 mm (1.2–1.6 in) in height.

How do dual axis solar trackers work?

A dual axis system can tilt in two directions. One of the axes works as above, to maximise generation through the day. The other is oriented east-west, allowing a tilt north through south to optimise output during seasonal variations in the sun's angle relative to the system's position on the globe. What is the uplift from solar trackers?

What is a single axis solar tracker?

The EcoFlow Single Axis Solar Tracker enables every apartment and home balcony to achieve energy independence using minimal space. By automatically tracking the angle of direct sunlight from 10 to 85 degrees on a single axis, it helps maximize the use of renewable energy.

What is an a-frame solar tracker?

The A-Frame uses a standard I-beam section to the solar tracker system. This allows seamless transition from driven I-beams to the A-Frames, leaving connection hardware the same. The leveling flanges allow for up to 20 in. of height adjustment to keep the A-Frame plum and level.
