ESS

Overview

How to promote PV subsidy policy in rural areas?

Considering the average educational level of rural residents, policy publicity should be implemented close to the public, for example by publicizing PV subsidy policies and distributing leaflets in high-traffic areas or by conducting home visits to explain subsidy operation procedures to villagers.

Does community management influence household adoption of rooftop solar photovoltaics in rural China?

This paper examines inequality in household adoption of rooftop solar photovoltaics in rural China through a qualitative study of three villages. The Chinese government promotes distributed solar to drive low-carbon development. However, community management and China's institutional system influence unequal access.

Does a household PV subsidy policy help consumers make money?

When consumers think that a household PV subsidy policy can help them make money and contribute to national energy conservation and emission reduction, they feel more trust in the household PV systems advocated by the government and have higher purchase intentions (Hancevic et al., 2017 [10]; Zhou & Shi, 2019 [35]).

Does the local government grant PV subsidies to poor households?

The local government encourages poor households to obtain labor income from PV revenue through labor work. Therefore, we believe that the changes in household energy use behavior do not have a reverse causal effect on whether the government grants PV subsidies to poor households.

Can solar photovoltaic projects help alleviate poverty in rural areas?
