During the day, solar powers your home first, with any surplus exported to the grid under Guernsey Electricity's excellent Buy Back tariff. Add a battery to store excess energy for use after dark — giving you 24-Hour Sun. Solar works year-round, even on cloudy days. Light cloud can diffuse sunlight.

Home battery storage puts you in charge by storing solar energy when it's sunny, then giving it back to you when it isn't. Here's how it quietly works behind the scenes to make life easier: Smart Charging – During a sunny day, your solar panels will probably produce more power than you actually.

It is essential that Guernsey can manage its own transition to a green economy effectively and so a strategic direction must be set, along with a market structure that supports this, and provide certainty to the energy industry. The Electricity Strategy was approved by the States of Deliberation in. What is the energy strategy for Guernsey?

The Electricity Strategy for Guernsey covers the period up to 2050. The Committee for the Environment & Infrastructure considered several different ways in which Guernsey could meet its future demand including solar, wind, tidal, additional interconnectors, energy storage and alternative fuels.

Can tidal energy be used in Guernsey?

The use of tidal energy was included in the process and assessed in the pathways and forms a part of one proposed supply pathway, 'Lighthouse', where the States of Guernsey would invest in innovative and up-and-coming technologies that are not yet commercially viable.

Where should an offshore wind array be located in Guernsey?

Feasibility studies to date have shown that the most optimal location for an offshore wind array in Guernsey's territorial waters is the west coast. The offshore wind feasibility report completed in 2016 is available in the downloads section of this page, along with a summary document.

Why should a regulatory framework be developed in Guernsey?

The regulatory framework must be suitable to the size and scale of Guernsey's industry, providing a mechanism to challenge decisions made by the industry, whilst also providing investors with confidence.
