

Spaceship simulator online

Overview

What is Spaceflight Simulator?

Description Spaceflight Simulator allows you to live out your space exploration dreams by becoming a virtual space engineer. You can design and build your own rockets, ensuring they are capable of surviving the harsh conditions of space.

How do you play Spaceflight Simulator?

How to play To play Spaceflight Simulator, use the mouse to drag and drop different rocket components to assemble your spacecraft. Once built, control the rocket using arrow keys for navigation. Your goal is to launch successfully, maintain trajectory, and explore various planets and celestial bodies.

How does a simulated ship work?

Every system on the ship is simulated in real-time, with the reactor charging the batteries, and the batteries feeding power into the ship's distribution network. Every system is live wired, right down to individual lights, so taking damage will have a very real impact on ship performance.

How do you explore a starship?

Watch the stars drifting by the windows from the comfort of your starship's lounge while you soar through the galaxy at 300ly/h. Travel directly to other worlds, or simply point your ship in a random direction and fire up the FTL engines. There are no limits to where you can explore.

How do I move the ISS?

You must be properly oriented to dock. Then use the buttons on the left to translate your position Up, Down, Left, Right, Backward or Forward towards the ISS. Both controls have a precision toggle at their center. The default settings are small precise movements. Do not use large movements near the ISS.

What's new in multiplayer space gaming?

With over a decade of multiplayer space gaming excellence, we've reimagined the original game from scratch, preserving its awe-inspiring experience of serving aboard a starship while defending the sector against nefarious aliens and treacherous cosmic phenomena.
