Do solar panels cause roofs to leak?

Solar panels rarely cause roof leaks. When roof leaks occur after solar panel installation, they usually become evident within the first year.

How do you fix a roof leak under solar panels?

To fix a roof leak, identify the source, repair the roof, inspect and upgrade the mounting system, and reinstall and seal the solar panels properly. Improper installation practices and pre-existing roof issues are the primary culprits behind roof leaks under solar panels. Let's delve into each cause:

1. Poor Installation Practices.

Why does my roof leak after installing solar panels?

There are various reasons your roof could leak after installing solar panels. They mostly have to do with poor installation where mounting holes are not sealed properly, the top is incompatible with solar panels, or the roof is old and not designed for solar panels.

How do I know if my solar panels are leaking?

Pooling water on the roof or around the solar panels clearly indicates a roof leak. If you observe standing water after rainfall, it's crucial to investigate further and identify the source of the leak.

4. Decreased Energy Production or System Performance

A roof leak can also impact the performance of your solar panel system.

How do I prevent leaks on a tin roof after a solar installation?

To prevent leaks on a tin roof after a solar installation, it is important to hire a qualified installer who is accredited by the CEC and is experienced in working with tin roofs and can ensure that proper installation procedures are followed. The installation of solar panels is too complicated a job to ever be taken on as a DIY project.

Can a solar panel leak through a hole?

Since holes are drilled into the roof in the process of installing a solar panel, any type of such penetration is likely to make room for leakages. Make sure a layer of industrial-grade sealant is applied around the hardware. This will keep the hole sealed with no room for water to pass through.
